

the substance of style

surface

Sleepless
in Milan

Behind the Scenes at Hermès

Boutique
Hotels NYC
Back to Basics

São Paulo Unique

Secret Italy

Haute Nike

Fashion
Takes A Trip

RELUXE

INDULGE FROM WITHIN

TO THE ENDS
OF THE EARTH
FOR THE BEST AND
THE BRIGHTEST

$4.99US $6.99CAN 09

036

ARRIVAL

Shopping Gag

From a distance, Sean Dix's Moschino stores in Milan look icily minimal, but up close they're all play, just like the goods on the hangers. Classic Moschino moments include a glass-slipper chandelier and a column wrapped in 40 km of red ribbon.

—Jenny Stein

↓ De-Tux Another variation on the theme of men's formal wear, this look from Prada's fall-winter 2002 collection literally turns the tuxedo inside out, while giving men some room to breathe around the collar. Prada stores, New York, Chicago, and Beverly Hills

FORM

In Bloom

At last—a love seat for three. When assembled in this rose-like arrangement, the Micama, from the Italian firm Antidiva, makes three company. The sort-of-sofa made up of cushion roll-ups can also be configured as a chaise longue or, according to the company, "various pouf sitting." www.antidiva.it

↓ Re-Pair Sofa or chaise longue and easy chair? The owner of Offecct's furniture could ponder the question daily. Designed by Jean-Marie Massaud, the versatile red-and-white units can be used separately or pushed together to create furniture perfect for mulling over life's other big quandaries. www.offecct.se

